

Texting at the Car Show---Ouch

OK, so this happens while you are registering your classic car.

She is standing there when you run back.

She says "I was only sending a text message".

A classic Pontiac Le Mans owner arrives at a Car Show early in order to get this good display spot.

Then, the next classic car, a '40 Ford shows up and grabs the second stall.

Next, this car plows through. She was texting while driving through the mall parking lot!!!

She was soooo busy texting, she didn't notice the curb and shrubs she was about to jump. She never touched the brake, and kept her foot on the gas pedal even after impact. They live and text among us, folks.
